Why I Rate Jesus so Highly

My Christian faith stands or falls on Jesus and his death and resurrection. If these are not true then my faith makes no sense.

I am very secure in my belief that all 3 of these things were true. They are completely remarkable. But history tells us that those there at the time firmly believed these things were true and had happened. I think they are more likely to know than any of us 2,000 years after the events.

But, so what? That was 2,000 years ago. Why is it relevant today?

The Old Testament, written before Jesus was born and Jesus speaking before he died and rose again talked about how his death would be a sacrifice for those who turn to him.

Jesus explained that he did these things so that we could be made right with God (which means that we are actually not right with God without Jesus).

Not only that, Jesus brought a new teaching, a new outlook on life. That new outlook has become the bedrock to our society for two millennia.

I rate Jesus so highly because he is real, because he was supernaturally foretold, because his death and resurrection make the biggest difference in life, because his teaching is the greatest and because Jesus changes lives for the better.
